Flood Halts Car, Stork Wins Race

Infant Born In Auto

Water Blocks PAE Subway

A baby girl was born early today in a car stalled at the Park avenue east subway which had been flooded with nearly six feet of water from a broken main.

"I don't ever want to have another one that way," Mrs. Aaron Sturgill, Ashland, R. D. 4, said today as she held her new daughter in her arms at General hospital.

The newest addition to the Sturgill family was born in the family car about 3:40 a. m.

Sturgill was hurrying his wife to the hospital when he hit the water in the subway and the car motor stalled. When Sturgill saw the baby was about to be born he waded out of the flood to call an ambulance.

When the ambulance arrived, the baby already had made her appearance. Several young men had stopped to offer aid and they helped ambulance attendants push the stalled car out of the subway before removing Mrs. Sturgill and the baby. Mrs. Sturgill said water was about knee-deep in the subway and she could not be moved until the car was pushed out.

Both mother and baby were doing well today at General hospital.

The Sturgills have two other children, a boy, 3, and a girl, 2. This is their fourth child. One died last September.

12-INCH LINE BREAKS

The break in the 12-inch water main occurred at 3 a. m. at the northwest corner of the G. Rogers company and poured water down a grade into the subway.

A lake several hundred feet long was formed at the subway's storm sewer, which is inadequate even in a heavy rain.

Traffic was routed over Fourth street.

Meanwhile city water department workers were busy digging to the break so it could be repaired. Water department workers said several homes would be without water for several hours.

At 8:30 a. m. the fire department's Seagrave pumper was called to the scene and Street Supt. Eldon W. Davis said he expected to have the subway clear this afternoon.

In addition to pumping out the water, it was necessary to clear

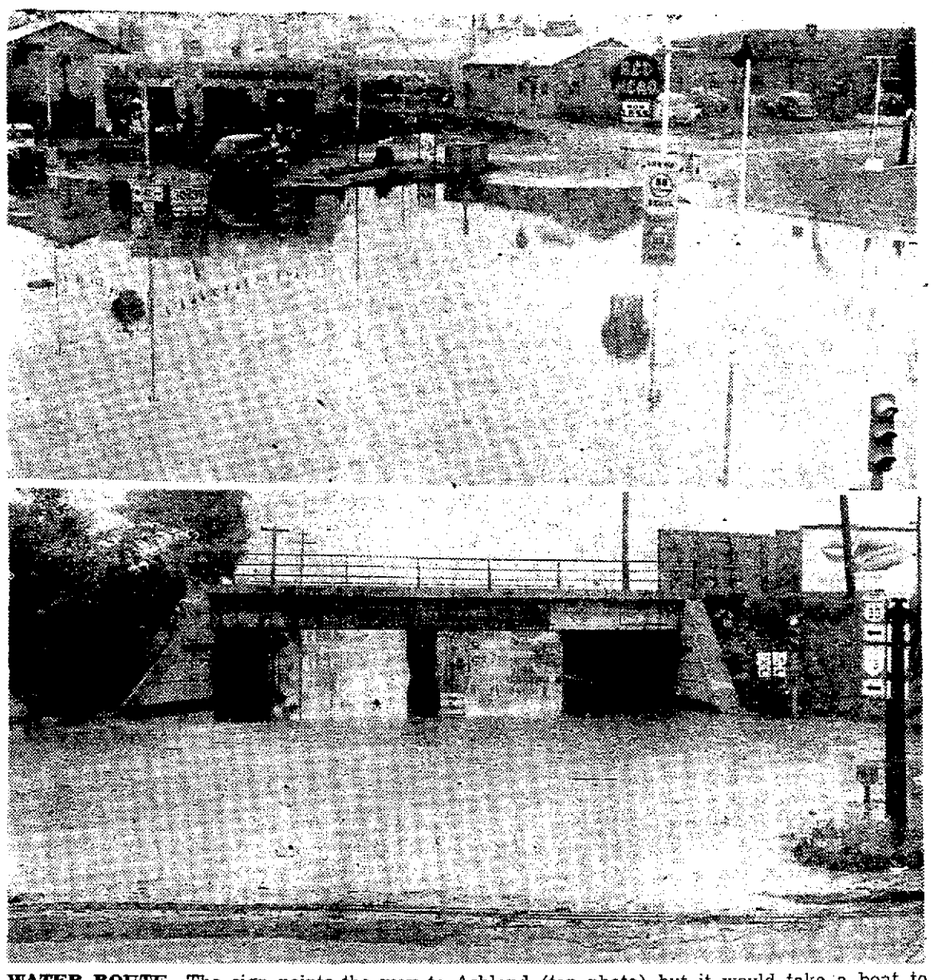
BORN IN CAR—Mrs. Aaron Sturgill, Ashland, R. D. 4, holds her new daughter as she rests in General hospital. The baby was born in the family car early this morning when the car stalled in the flooded subway on Park avenue east. Although the Sturgills have two other children, this was Mrs. Sturgill's first experience of having a baby outside a hospital. Both she and the baby are doing fine, but Mrs. Sturgill doesn't want a repeat performance. Mrs. Sturgill was sitting up in bed combing her hair when the photographer arrived this morning, but she admitted she felt "a little shaky."



WATER ROUTE—The sign points the way to Ashland (top photo) but it would take a boat to follow it after Park avenue east subway was flooded by a break in a water main at 3 a. m. today. Water had receded several inches when this view (bottom photo) was taken looking east through the subway from Mansfield.

Heat Fades Temporarily

Noon Reading Stands At 75

One of Ohio's worst heat waves is broken—at least until tomorrow.

That was the good word for Mansfielders today from Forecaster A. S. Klemetsmo. But as soon as the cool air from Canada moves on, the "battle of the heat" will resume, he added.

Noon temperature for Mansfield today was 75, a welcome relief from the 85 high reached at 4:30 p. m. A trace of rain helped drop the mercury early today but did little more than dust off garden crops. Two days ago, the city enjoyed more than a half-inch of rain.

Throughout the state thermometers registered in the high 70's or low 80's as the almost monthlong heat spell subsided. Before the hot spell ended yesterday, nearly 30 deaths throughout the state during the past month had been blamed on the heat. Cincinnati and Cleveland alone recorded 13 and 9 deaths respectively.

However, Ohioans were warned they had little time to enjoy the lower temperatures. Slowly rising temperatures and hot and humid weather are forecast for the week end with showers and scattered thunderstorms Sunday and Monday. Total rainfall will be about one-half inch.

Dayton was one of the "cooler" places in Ohio yesterday after a downpour of two inches of rain hit the city last night and dropped temperatures 10 degrees in litfle more than an hour. Youngstown also was benefitted with an inch and a half of rain.

Meanwhile, the eastern states, parched from a drought which has caused crop loss of several millions, faced another threat today. The little rain that fell helped propagate Japanese beetles on the north shore of Long Island, experts said.

Parole Board Frees Slayer

June Allen, sentenced to life imprisonment at Marysville Woman's reformatory on June 28, 1939 for the murder of Walter Clair Edmonson, was granted a parole yesterday by the state pardon and parole commission.

Effective date of the parole is August 17th.

Miss Allen shot Edmonson twice as he was leaving a North Diamond street restaurant.

The woman, who was 20-years-old at the time of the shooting, pleaded self-defense at her trial. She claimed that Edmonson had threatened her previously in her room.

Guest Rests Longer Than He Expected

His day's work done, a Park avenue west service station attendant closed up shop last night and went home.

Left behind in the rest room was John Pealer, Mt. Vernon, R. D. 1, cast in the role of the "forgotten man."

Pealer 'escaped' from the rest room and reached a phone in the main office about 10 p. m.

Pealer appealed via telephone for police aid and was released through the lubricating room door.

Mine Whistles Shrill Away; Miners Sleep

PITTSBURGH —(AP)— Start-to-work whistles blew at western Pennsylvania soft coal mines today—but nobody showed up at the pits.

Obeying John L. Lewis' order to work only three days a week during current contract negotiations, miners stayed at home. They worked Tuesday, Wednesday and yesterday. After this week they are heeding the United Mine Workers president's edict to work Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday—and then stop.

Coal operators over the nation had said they would post work orders for a normal work week despite the Lewis order. They contend the three-day a week order probably is illegal on the grounds it restrains trade.

That's why the mine whistles shrilled this morning.

FIRE SWEEP 2 CARS

AFTON, Calif. — (AP) — Fire swept through two cars of the east-bound Union Pacific streamliner City of Los Angeles last night, but the 25 passengers escaped injury.

Chance To Earn Their Groceries

County Relief Clients Given Job Offers

Richland county breadwinners who are forced to seek public relief for their families because of unemployment will be given a chance to work for their groceries.

Termed a "modest work program for able-bodied, willing-to-work men," the program was announced jointly today by Harvey W. Burghard, city-county relief coordinator, and County Engineer Walter E. Rusk.

The program, expected to be put into effect by July 15, offers employment on county roads, in city parks and on city streets.

Workers will receive no money. Their entire compensation will be in relief orders.

Burghard said men showing willingness to work at these jobs would be given preference at the first opening of steady employment. The city-county relief office cooperates with the Ohio State Employment Service in placing workers.

Rusk said the project has been used effectively in Akron, Barberton, Toledo and Cincinnati where relief loads on counties and municipalities have increased sharply this year. Richland county's relief costs alone increased 55½ per cent in the first six months of this year over the corresponding period in 1948.

Both men said the project will serve a two-fold purpose in protecting the self respect of conscientious workers forced to relief and "weeding out those who would rather collect relief payments than work."

Under the law, any able-bodied man who refuses work of any kind is not entitled to relief.

MOW WEEDS

Rusk said the men will be put to work clearing brush and mowing weeds on county roads. Others will work with the city park department and still others are expected to be used on the city street crews.

He added that all men accepting the jobs will be separated into small groups of 25 or less and will work under competent foremen. Rusk added that the work project will be "separated entirely from maintenance operations on the roads."

"We have lots of hopes for the project through the cooperation of the county and city departments," Burghard said, adding, "we can try it and see if it works.

"We probably won't see much difference in money outlay as far as relief orders are concerned, but it will weed out those who decline work."

Burghard said the "big spurt in relief cases" came about 45 days ago. So far this year, $41,460 has been paid out for city relief orders. However, several large bills are still outstanding and have not been added to the total for the first six months. In June, 1948, a total of $42,663 had been paid out in relief for the city alone.

According to records kept in the county auditor's office, Richland county's relief bill, not including Mansfield, has reached $59,424 so far this year. Payments for county relief last year at the same time totaled $38,232.

Accuse Churchmen

PRAGUE — (AP) — The official communist press today accused the leaders of Czechoslovakia's Roman Catholic church of "trying to unleash an anti-state movement to create chaos in our country."

Broader Alliance Suggested

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A group of senators turned up today with a brand new plan to transform the North Atlantic pact into a world-wide alliance against aggression.

Senator Mundt (R-S.D.) one of the sponsors, told a reporter the plan would throw open the North Atlantic pact to any nation agreeing to the principles of free democratic nations.

But, Mundt said, members also would agree to: (1) no veto power, such as Russia has been using often in the United Nations; (2) no military use of atomic bombs; (3) international control of atomic energy; and (4) an international police force.

The proposal came while the Senate was working on the North Atlantic pact and the European recovery program.

SEE PACT TRIUMPH

The situation lined up about this way:

North Atlantic treaty—

Senate leaders hope to reach a final vote on the pact either Monday or Tuesday. They expect overwhelming approval of the 12-nation alliance but not until after some senators are assured their vote will not commit them to voting for the rearmament of western Europe.

European recovery—

Members of the Senate appropriations committee appeared to be agreed the Economic Cooperation administration may have to take a fairly heavy cut.

Senator Robertson (D-Va.) one of the strongest supporters of ECA—conceded a cut in funds is "inevitable." Robertson said he will try to soften the blow on ECA.

Other committee members said they expect the cut to be fairly deep, but there was no agreement on the amount.

Seek Youth In Slaying

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Franklin county sheriff's deputies launched al all-out manhunt today for a 14-year-old boy they believe may have murdered his 22-year-old sister - in - law, Mrs. Earl Arledge.

Mrs. Arlege's body, riddled by 10 bullets from a high-powered rifle, was found in a pool of blood on the floor of tenant house on the farm of Howard A. Evans on the Groveport pike near Columbus.

Questioned as to the whereabouts of his brothers, Dorsel, 14, and Samuel, 8, who had been visiting him on the farm this week, Arledge sobbed:

"Where are they? I don't know where they are."

Meanwhile Evans told deputies a 12-gauge double-barreled shotgun and a .25-50 caliber deer rifle and two boxes of shotgun shells had been stolen from his home yesterday, during his family's absence.

Capt. Hugh A. Leggett, head of the sheriff's investigating staff, said today:

"It looks like the 14-year-old might have done it. He had threatened this lady before and even went so far as to slap her a couple of times last week."

Leggett explained:

"They e Arledges) had been having trouble with him. They wanted him to work while he was visiting the farm and he didn't want to work."

Probers Call Noted Negroes

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Rep. Wood (D) Ga., said today that the House unAmerican Activities committee will call baseball star Jackie Robinson and other prominent Negro spokesmen next week to repudiate the views of Paul Robeson.

Wood, committee chairman, said he hopes Robinson, second baseman with the Brooklyn Dodgers, will be able to testify Wednesday following his appearance in the All-Star game on Tuesday.

The congressman said the hearing is being scheduled in response to requests of Negro leaders "who have asked to be allowed to go on record as not supporting statements about Negro loyalty in case of war."

Continue To Study Evidence

Ask Judge For Copy of Charge

NEW YORK—(INS)—The Alger Hiss jury, deadlocked for more than five hours last night, resumed at 9:30 a. m. (EDT) today its deliberations on whether the former State department official passed secret information to a pre-war Soviet spy ring.

The ten men and two women, by going back to the jury room at 9:30, actually jumped the gun on the court by half an hour, indicating their eagerness to reach a verdict on the perjury charges against Hiss.

A short time before noon, the jury sent a note to Judge Samuel H. Kaufman requesting "that portion of the (judge's) charge relating to circumstantial and corroborative evidence."

Judge Kaufman gave them the case at 4:24 p. m. (EDT) yesterday. Only a short while later, the jurors called for the most important trial exhibits.

These included copies of the grand jury's indictment, the State department papers turned up by Chambers which he said he got from Hiss, the typewriter on which the papers were allegedly copied by Hiss and his wife, and typewritten letters used by the prosecution for comparisons.

Hiss, waving to photographers and smiling broadly, arrived at 9:50 a. m., then stood chatting amiably with reporters in a corridor outside the 13th floor courtroom in the skyscraper federal building.

Mrs. Hiss, who arrived with her husband, greeted newsmen cordially. She was accompanied by several women friends, and also talked idly while the jury deliberated.

U. S. Prosecutor Thomas F. Murphy, who in his summation yesterday branded Hiss "another Benedict Arnold, another Judas Iscariot," reached court at 10 a. m.

Defense Attorney Lloyd Paul Stryker was even later. He, as did Murphy in his final speech, and Judge Kaufman in his charge to the jury, emphasized that the basic issue is whether Hiss' chief accuser, confessed former spy courier Whittaker Chambers, could be believed.

Stryker called Chambers a liar, moral leper and psycopath, told the jury he was confident it could not believe such a man, and said that therefore the government had no case.

In every mind was the question: Who will the jury believe—Hiss or Chambers?

U. S. To Act In Dispute

PITTSBURGH — (UP) — Angry words from CIO President Philip Murray made the threat of a nationwide steel walkout more pronounced today and government mediators set out to head it off.

Murray assailed the U. S. Steel corporation yesterday for what he called its failure to make a genuine bargaining effort. He said the negotiations had broken off and he indicated a steel strike starting July 16 was a virtual certainty.

An hour later Federal Mediation Director Cyrus Ching called representatives of U. S. Steel and Murray's CIO United Steelworkers union to a conference in Washington on Monday. A strike parley of Murray's wage-policy committee is scheduled for the following day here.

Incensed at "big steel's" rejection of his pension, wage and insurance demands, Murray told how a "rolling strike" would begin with a walkout of 500,000 men employed by 189 firms affected by the July 16 strike deadline in reopening provisions of the present contracts.

Then as pacts with hundreds of other plants expire on various dates up to Oct. 1, he said, more and more steel workers across the nation would walk off the job.

No Judge Handy, So Spy Trial Delayed

NEW YORK — (AP) — The espionage trial of Judith Coplon and Russian engineer Valentin Gubitchev has been put off until Oct. 15.

The case, scheduled to start July 11, was adjourned yesterday because of the unavailability now of a judge in the southern federal district of New York to preside at the trial.

Confesses In Hanging

CHICAGO — (INS) — A 15-year-old student of crime and president of a juvenile "hangmen-noose-club" was held today in the "accidental" gallows death of an intended mascot.

Chicago police said Robert Munday, who admitted he had an urge to hang someone, confessed the club-house slaying of three-and-a-half-year-old Tommy Whitey Laux.

An inquest in the child's death was scheduled for today.

The boy's body was found stuffed in a barracks bag in the dingy basement of his home. Medical examiners said Tommy apparently had been strangled with a rope.

According to detectives, Robert insisted the younger boy's death was an accident. The club president's 13-year-old brother, Charles, first confessed the slaying, but later denied it. Charles explained he "admitted" killing Tommy because he was "nervous and afraid."

Both the Munday boys are pupils at the Montefiore special school for truants.

The Laux child's body was found yesterday following an all-night search through the south side neighborhood near his home.

Declares Ickes Becomes Bashful Concerning His Former Secretary

For all the money that he spent on publicity for his projects, Harold Ickes somehow seems to have gone bashful about his charming girl friend, Ruth Gruber, the deadhead employe on the payroll of the Alaska railroad, who got $6,000 a year and $7 a day subsistence for composing magazine articles about the scenery and kindred subjects.

This lady was mentioned in a memorandum introduced in the trial of Judith Coplon, another cheery and, to some susceptibles, irresistible bundle of bureaucratic femininity.

The memorandum, discovered by the F.B.I. in the purse of Miss Coplon, and introduced at her trial, said that "Gruber" was reported to have been a "contact" of F. A. Garanin of the Soviet embassy in Washington.

Mr. Ickes reacted violently. He said that if Ruth was a Red he was a Hottentot, an outbreak of racial bigotry against an underprivileged minority which the human rights division of the United Nations surely will make note of.

Here we have had a Hottentot-baiter in our midst all the time, serving on committees and subscribing to angry resolutions to camouflage his secret anti-Hottentotism. Wait until the anti-defamation league hears about this!

As to whether Miss Gruber is a "Red," whatever that is, you may require something better than the word of Mr. Ickes which, in my rate of exchange, continues to fluctuate between Confederate dollars and Roman-off rubles. But the very charming lady herself asserts that she was not a communist as of ten years ago. However, the declaration, occurring in a book called "I went To The Soviet-Arctic", left me with an impression of affection for the Soviets.

On page 107 she tells us that she worked on a paper called Arctik's Bolshevick in the port of Igarka, although only as a guest. She was actually a correspondent of the good old mock-Republican New York Herald Tribune.

The book is nippy narrative, nicely mingling sexology with straight, descriptive Sunday feature stuff. I gather that this "very charming person," as Congressman Jed Johnson, an Oklahoma Democrat, often called her, was on the cuff, or a guest of Soviet Russia.

On page 100, the very charming lady says the Russian government was paying the tolls on her dispatches from the Arctic to the Herald Tribune's Moscow bureau. Some of them ran to 2,000 words. The price to the Herald Tribune would have been "fabulous" she says.

To a journalist of the strict American school this subsidy recalls the motto. "Whose bread I eat his song I sing."

Teen-Agers Attacked In Johns Park

Mother Asks Police For Protection

A Bowman street mother asked police for nightly patrol of the Johns Park area last night after reporting her teen-aged son and daughter were slapped and beaten by four youths who attacked them at the park shortly before 8 p. m.

The complainant was Mrs. James K. Southard, 555 Bowman street. A 17-year-old youth was picked up in connection with the assault but was released by police when Southards agreed to "give the boy another chance" and refused to file charges.

Today, the father of the children said he understood the youths first attacked the boy and when the sister tried to protect her brother, the youths turned on her. Southard gave the ages of the youths as 16, 17, 18 and 21.

Southard added his children never before had been attacked or molested at the park.

Patrolmen Check Cars

Make Safety Tests Northeast of City

The first large-scale traffic check this year was scheduled for today from 2 to 4 p. m. approximately five miles north of Mansfield on U. S. Route 42.

State highway patrolmen of the Mansfield post said the check would be one of the many scheduled for Richland and Ashland counties this month in cooperation with the state. Twenty-five state patrolmen from the local post and from eight other posts in the district were to make the check of motor vehicles.

Sgt. J. A. Bower of the Massillon post was in charge.

The check is aimed at finding mechanical defects in motor vehicles traveling the highways which might cause accidents. Drivers whose cars are found to be defective will be given a reasonable length of time for repairs before the car is re-checked, patrolmen said.

Two officers from each of the following posts will participate in the check: Warren, Massillon, Lorain, Medina, Wooster, Kent, Geneva and Salem.

He Needs Sponsor To Train Dog

Sightless Vet's Plans Hit Snag

By JOHN FISHER

The plans of a sightless Mansfield war veteran to educate his dog to guide him about the city have struck a snag.

Paul Matthes, 25, of 918 Maumee avenue, has owned a German Shepherd since he was a youth. Now he would like to train the dog and receive training himself to enable him to follow the animal through the streets.

But he needs a sponsor and about $550 for the training. The sponsor who had agreed to back the project withdrew his support.

Since then Matthes and Cleveland officials of the Veterans' administration has tried to find a sponsor.

Matthes makes it clear, however, that he is not looking for charity.

"Before taking charity I would obtain the funds through Veterans Administrations channels," he said.

The VA will pay for the training, but the "red tape" involved caused Matthes to seek the funds through a sponsor. Sponsors have been paying for training seeing-eye dogs in most cases, Matthes said.

If a sponsor is found before the middle of August, Matthes will spend a week at the Dewey M. Satterfield dog school in Independence, O., to train with his dog. If a sponsor is not found soon Matthes will ask the Veterans Administration to provide funds for the training.

Matthes had one eye removed after being injured by mortar shell on Sept. 24, 1944, while serving with the 80th Infantry Division in France. He became almost totally blind about two years ago.

He was a patient at Crile Veterans Administration hospital in Cleveland. He also received orientation at the Old Farms convalescent School in Avon, Conn. He received some of the highest grades ever given in the various classes at the school, according to Charles Swain, training director at the Mansfield Veterans Administration office.

KEEPS BUSY—Paul Matthes, a World War II veteran, is a valued employe at the Barnes Manufacturing company plant. He works despite the loss of his vision

Matthes is working on the fixture assembly line at the Barnes Manufacturing company. He worked there as a co-op high school student and full time after graduating from high school and until he entered service in March, 1943.

"Paul is a great asset to us—he carries his own weight," said Marshall R. Seybold, personnel director at Barnes. Seybold added that Matthes gets around faster than most of the workers on the floor where he works, but has to go a little slower when he is walking in unfamiliar surroundings

Free Band Concerts To Open Sunday

Sunday evening, 40 musicians, under the direction of Dr. Louis Pete, of Ashland, will open the third annual series of summer band concerts in Mansfield when they present a program of musical selections. The concerts will be held at Stadium field at 8 p. m. on Sundays.

The concerts, jointly sponsored by the City Recreation department and Local 159, American Federation of Musicians, are open to the public without charge.

The city street department is assisting in the civic program by transporting a portable lighting system from the Ohio State fairgrounds in Columbus to Stadium field to be used for the evening concerts.

Stanley Kamen, city recreation director, said it has not been decided yet how many concerts will be given this year, but the sponsoring groups plan to make them the best ever held here.

The concerts have attracted thousands of Mansfielders in the past two years. The band presents programs combining popular and semi-classical numbers.

Dr. Pete is known throughout Ohio as an outstanding bandsman. He is director of the All-Ohio Youth band which plays at the Ohio State fair.

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Two-year-old Patrick Huffman found it cooler so close to the fan. He still thinks so but, of course, not so-o close.

The electric fan blade whacked a curved cut on his noggin. But it was so-o cool.

Firemen Kept Busy

Two minor auto fires and a false alarm kept Central station firemen on the run yesterday and early today.

At 1:55 p. m. firemen were called to Baldwin avenue, where a Sowash Dry cleaning company delivery truck had broken away from its parking space and backed into a telephone pole. Firemen said the jolt caused a short in the truck's wiring. Only slight damage was caused. None of the load in the truck was damaged.

Firemen made a run to the Cleveland Grain company on Wooster road at 8:25 p. m. yesterday where the automatic alarm system had been accidentally set off.

At 6:52 a. m. today, a car owned by Miss Naomi Johnson, 400 Ohio street, developed a short in the wiring at Vennum avenue and Ohio street. Firemen said only slight damage was caused

READY FOR SHOWERS—

The rainy weather hasn't dampened the spirits of the 136 intermediate Girl Scouts who are attending the first session of Girl Scout day camp at Camp Ninwan which opened yesterday. Dressed in raincoats, slacks, and rubber boots, a large group of them waited on Main street this morning for the bus to take them to camp. Carrying their lunches and waterproof "sit upons," they were prepared for fun no matter what the weatherman might offer today.

DOUBLE BIRTHDAYS—

Two of the city's auditors have another figure to add to their books today. Both Richland County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe and City Auditor Paul L. Kelley have birthdays today. When questioned about the double entry, Wolfe remarked: "I know, we've been having our birthdays on the same day for years." The folks at the municipal building sang "happy birthday" to Kelley who promised to play a solo later for them on his kazoo. Wolfe is going to spend part of the day with his family.

Lady's Luck Holding Out

ROME — (UP) — Italian police today gave Charles (Lucky) Luciano a clean bill of health, at least for the present, after questioning him about an international multi-million-dollar narcotics smuggling ring.

Luciano, one-time vice overlord of New York, was taken into custody with an unidentified woman companion at his comfortable apartment in the Parioli district of Rome yesterday.

Police questioned the angry, protesting Luciano for several hours in an attempt to find a possible connection between him and a man known as Vincent Trupia of New York. Trupia was arrested at Rome's airport 10 days ago as he was about to take off for the United States with $500,000 worth of cocaine

Counsel Granted More Time

Court Reduces Women's Bonds

Hearings for the eight persons charged Wednesday with contributing to the delinquency of a 13-year-old girl, arrested with them in the "love-nest" raid Saturday night, was continued today until July 15, by Probate Judge Stuart H. Cramer.

All nine of the persons involved were transferred to the county jail from city jail and bond for each of the three women was reduced from $1,000 to $500.

One of the men, John J. Weber, 22, of 264 Park avenue east, has furnished bond and was free today.

The trial was continued until July 15 on the motion of the defendents' attorneys, Beam and Beam and George W. Biddle, that they be permitted more time to investigate the case.

A complaint was filed by Police Capt. Clare Kyler charging that the eight adults were members of a group that taught the 13-year-old girl sordid details of illicit love and that they met continuously at 32½ West Fourth street for immoral purposes and drunkenness.

Still being held, other than the girl who is to be a principal witness, are Mrs. Marilyn Jackson, 22, of 1016½ Park avenue west; Mrs. Elsie Ramona Groves, 20, Akron; Evelyn Sprague, 18, of 11½ North Diamond street; Joseph Ralph Barto, 27, of 32½ West Fourth street; Noble Keith Perry, 19, of 32½ West Fourth street, and Guy Long jr., 25 of 32½ West Fourth street.

Posse Nabs 3 Escapers

Crawford county authorities captured the three unarmed escapers from the Mansfield reformatory farm at 3 p. m. Thursday on the Frank Bogan farm near North Robinson.

The trio had fled the OSR farm 24 hours earlier and were sought throughout the Mansfield area.

A farmer, residing near North Robinson six miles east of Bucyrus, phoned Sheriff Ralph Schreck to report three suspicious looking men had obtained a drink of water at his home.

Three deputies, two Bucyrus city policemen and volunteer farmers joined Schreck to form a posse that caught the three after chasing them through several woods in the area.

Schreck identified the escapers as Jack Mans, 30, from Lawrence county; Lewis McWilliams, 27, and his brother, Fred McWilliams, 25, both from Athens county. Mans had been received at OSR on Oct. 18, 1947 to serve a one-to-15 year sentence for burglary and the McWilliams brothers were received on Jan. 17, 1949 to serve a one-to-seven year sentence for larceny.

Light Switch Baffled Him

Charles Nail jr., 730 Woodhill road, probably won't leave his house doors open again for a long time.

Shortly before 11 p. m. yesterday Nail returned home and tried to switch on the lights in his house. Nothing happened. Suddenly Nail remembered that he had left the house unlocked.

Thinking that burglars might have entered his home, Nail went to the police station and told officers about it. Police obliged by accompanying him back to his home.

Then police went through the same routine. But—the lights went on with a simple flick of the switch!

The slightly abashed Nail thinks some of his friends may have been playing tricks on him at the fuse box.

'Mad' Tribe Fans Charter Train For Pittsburgh Game

AKRON — (AP — An Akron jeweler who got into a rhubarb with the Cleveland Indians over purchase of season tickets has rounded up a trainload of local baseball fans to go to Pittsburgh Sunday for the Pirates' double header with Chicago.

The six-car Pennsylvania railroad train will be identified through window banners as a "disgruntled Indian fans' special from Akron."

The stunt is Leo Santilli's Sunday punch at the tribe and its master promoter, Bill Veeck, whose missionary work has converted thousands of Ohioans into loyal Indian fans.

Santilli is a 35-year-old Kenmore district jeweler whose feelings were hurt last January when he couldn't buy a batch of the world champions' season tickets.

Nearly 200 fans have signed at $13.50 each for round trip rail fare and ball park admission, Santilli said. Buses will meet the chartered train to take the Akron fans to Forbes field.

Brooklyn 9 Boosts Lead In National

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

How about Casey Stengel for manager of the year?

While the wise guys wait for Casey's New York Yankees to wilt, they continue to knock off the contenders, one by one. Connie Mack's Philadelphia A's were the latest, dropped five full games behind the Yanks by last night's 6-2 setback.

The boys shed a tear for "Good Old Case" when he stepped into Bucky Harris' job last winter. The Yanks were aging, coming apart at the seams.

But no matter how badly they stumble, the Yanks can't miss leading the American league at the All-Star game break Sunday night. Many think they never will be caught.

A two-run homer by Hank Bauer broke a 1-1 tie in the fifth last night to give Allie Reynolds a working margin over Lou Brissie. Joe Di Maggio had a double for the Yanks.

Cleveland, making another move, crept to within a game and a half of the A's by smothering Chicago, 8-2, with a 17-hit attack. Everybody except Joe Gordon shared in the hit parade that enabled Bob Lemon to coast home with his ninth victory.

The Boston Red Sox trampled Washington, 8-3, and chased Mickey Haefner right off the Senators' ball club. Owner Clark Griffith, dissatisfied with Haefner's "indifferent" performance, gave the pint-sized lefty his walking papers after a bad first inning. Haefner walked five, messed up a grounder and allowed one hit as the Sox rolled up a five-run lead.

Detroit teed off on Red Embree for six runs in the first inning to snap its five-game losing streak with a 9-2 romp over the St. Louis Browns. The Tigers had only three hits in their big inning.

Brooklyn boosted its National league lead to two full games by trimming the Boston Braves, 5-2, in a night game after runnerup St. Louis bowed to Pittsburgh, 2-0, in the afternoon. Tiny Bonham gave the Cards only six hits.

Lefty Dave Koslo had a night he'll never forget as he hit his first two major league home runs, driving in five runs, in the New York Giants' 11-3 slaughter of the Phillies.

Despite 17 Chicago hits, Cincinnati eked out a 7-6 edge over the Cubs on Ted Kluszewski's single following Bobby Adams' triple in the last of the ninth.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES—Joltin' Joe DiMaggio's hitting spree on his return to the game has projected the Yankee star into a daily sports headline. As a result the fans flock for autographs at every game. Two of the autograph seekers are shown being chased by officer as Joe watches.

VFW Softballers Can Tie Liederkranz In Loop Play

The International Softball league enters its second round today but a postponed American league contest will steal the spotlight.

Sons of Herman and Veterans of Foreign Wars post 3494 collide at Liberty park in the American loop tilt. The game will have much to do with the first half title of the league since VFW can catch pace-setting Liederkranz by winning.

Liederkranz has a first-half record of four victories and one defeat while VFW has three and one. Sons of Herman is in third place with 3-2 and can yet get into the scrap if it wins today. Each team is to play six first half games.

In the International loop, American Legion is to tangle with the Amvets in the feature game at North Lake park. Westinghouse Clerks meet Westinghouse Engineers at Prospect and Tom's Restaurant faces American Veterans Committee at Johns.

Legion won four straight games in the first round and still has two to play while the Amvets league record is three victories and one defeat. The two teams met in the first round and the game wound up in a 7-to-7 tie. AVC finished the first round with five wins and one defeat.

Leading the International batters is Robert Gassaway, Amvets, with a whopping .611.

In other games, St. Matthew's defeated First Christian, 13 to 6, and First Presbyterian beat First Methodist, 5 to 2. Rex Collins fired a six-hit effort against the Methodists while R. Collins had three singles.

D. & M. Cigar store went into a tie for first place in the National softball league's first round by pasting Lumbermens, 16 to 5, in a postponed game last night at Johns park.

The Cigars pounded Gene Bradley for 17 hits to knot Office Cafe and Westinghouse for the loop lead. Each of the three teams has won four and lost two. A fourth team, Ideal Electric, may also tie for the league. The Electricians have won three and lost two and have a makeup game to be slated next week.

Willie Fowler, the Senior high track star, scattered eight Lumbermens hit and struck out seven. The Cigars clinched the game with a five-run burst in the third. Howie Tipper, another Tyger athlete, paced the winners with three hits.

Adams Shoots 313 In Meet

Mansfield's Arnie Adams finished only ten strokes off the pace with a 313 in the Cleveland Plain Dealer 72-hole medal tournament which ended yesterday.

Arnie shot a pair of 79's over the Canterbury Country club course to finish in a four-way tie for 20th place among some 275 golfers who started the chase two weeks ago.

Steve Pipoly of Youngstown came in with a 69-74 yesterday for a 293 total and the championship. Harold Paddock, 1948 Ohio Amateur champion who will play here next week, was second with 294.

2 More Mansfield Golfers Enter 'Am'

Mansfield's list of entrants in the Ohio Amateur jumped to 18 today with the receipt of entry blanks from two more Westbrook members. Bill Mercer and Bob Carpenter were the latest to sign, bringing the number of Westbrook entrants in the joust to 14.

Around 125 entrants are in the fold so far including two former champions. Cleveland's Harold Paddock, the defending champion, will be here as will Ed Preisler of Cleveland who won the title in 1946. Max McConnell of Coshocton, the 1947 runner-up, is entered along with Tom Strange, the Cincinnati district champ, and young Dow Finsterwald, of Athens, who won the Columbus district amateur crown.

NO WORD YET

No word has been received from four-time champ Maurice McCarthy or the 1945 king Frank Stranahan and it is assumed neither will enter. Stranahan is playing in the British Open this week while McCarthy notified Ohio Golf association President E. H. (Sockeye) Davis that business may keep him away.

Becomes Pitcher

Charles Mill One of Best Fishing Spots

By JIM DAILEY

COLUMBUS — (UP) — When the heat's on the fishing is off—that old angler's adage seemed to hold true today as the state fish management section issued its weekly report on where they're biting.

The fish report showed only three Ohio lakes where fishing could be rated good.

Seneca lake about 15 miles outside of Cambridge appeared to be the best spot for fishermen seeking diversion, although they'll have to be lovers of the stubby bluegill.

USE EVERY BAIT

The creel census taker at the lake said fishermen this week were using every bait in the book — red worms, catalta worms, soft craws and artificial bait — but were having most luck with the catalta worms on the blue gills.

The other two good spots recommended were Charles Mill, where 1.43 fish per hour were caught per angler, and Pleasant Hill, where .93 per hour were taken.

At Charles Mill the big catch was in crappies —69 per cent, with 17 per cent being in Blue Gill, and 17 per cent in the lowly Carp. Others caught were Channel Cats, Bullheads, and a few Bass.

The creel man at Charles Mill said prospects were good for the week end and recommended that for best results live bait be used at about a depth of four feet.

Pleasant Hill reservoir, with .93 fish per hour per man, also was held to be pretty good with Crappies and Blue Gill dominating.

Ernsberger Loses One Hit Contest

Three unearned runs in the sixth inning gave Mansfield AC a 4-3 victory over Madison in a Central Ohio junior league game last night at Blue Goose field.

Madison's Dick Ernsberger gave up only one-hit but four errors by his teammates caused his defeat. The Rams led 3-1 going into the sixth when Stilwell opened the AC rally by reaching first on Jack Bosh's third error. Hargo walked, Ivory got the only base hit of the game to plate one tally and a passed ball and another error let in two more.

The game was halted at the end of the sixth by darkness.

Cleveland 'Cleans' White Sox With 17 Hits

Lemon Gets Ninth; Wynn Goes Today

ST. LOUIS — (INS) — Righthander Early Wynn goes after his seventh victory of the season tonight when he hurls for the Cleveland Indians in the first of a three-game series against the St. Louis Browns.

Wynn, who was obtained from Washington last year, has won six games as a redskin, while losing only one.

The Indians knocked off the Chicago White Sox, 8-2, under a barrage of 17 hits yesterday. Bob Lemon was the Redskins' starting and winning pitcher, notching his ninth triumph of the season.

Dale Mitchell, Ray Boone, Manager Lou Boudreau and Larry Doby each smashed three base hits as the Indians scored once each in the first and third, four times in the fourth and once each in the seventh and eighth.

Singles by Boone and Doby in the first inning accounted for the Tribe's first marker, while singles by Mitchell, Mickey Vernon and Doby sent the second run across the plate in the third.

A four-run outburst in the fourth frame sent starter Marino Pieretti to the showers. Boudreau opened with a double and stopped at third when Bob Kennedy singled to right. A fly ball by Jim Hegan scored Boudreau and Lemon then tripled to deep center field, scoring Kennedy.

RUN PRODUCTION

Max Surkont relieved Pierette forced Boone to ground out, Lemon scoring. After Vernon walked, Doby doubled to right, scoring Mitchell.

Singles by Lemon and Mitchell in the seventh and one-basers by Boudreau and Vernon in the eighth accounted for the Indians' other two runs.

Meanwhile, Lemon was scattering nine hits over the route and was in serious trouble only in the eighth, when the Sox scored their only two runs. Three singles and a walk gave the Chisox a pair of markers before Lemon could retire the side. He set down the side without a hit in the ninth, however.

Mel Queen, the former Pittsburgh Pirate and New York Yankee, looked like a king last night as he pitched Indianapolis back into first place in the American association with a 4 to 1 decision over runnerup St. Paul. It was Queen's 12th win.

Don Black Asks For Mound Trial

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Pitcher Don Black wants the Cleveland Indians to see how he looks on the mound in an exhibition game with the Pittsburgh Pirates Wednesday night.

Black suffered a brain injury last September and was put on the inactive list last month. Saying he has been working out daily and feels fine, he wired Lou Boudreau for permission to pitch.

It would be, if granted, his first assignment since his accident.

Ashland Printers Blank Gorman-Rupp Team, 3-0

Ashland Garber's Printing threw Mansfield Gorman-Rupp for a 3-0 loss in a softball game last night at Gorman-Rupp field.

The Pumpers Bobby Regula was tagged for six hits and gave up three walks while the Pumpers got only four safeties. The Mansfield hits, made by Al Baki, Wayne Hough, Ted Bush and Peanuts Musille, were all singles Ashland had a double and triple among its safe blows.

The defeat was Gorman-Rupp's seventh against eight victories for the season. The Pumpers go to Shelby Sunday night and now have three consecutive road games scheduled before returning here next Friday. They play at Shelby Sunday night, at Cleveland Tuesday and at Orrville Thursday. Wooster Lumbers come here next Friday and Lakewood next Saturday. The latter four games are all Ohio major league contests.

Hawks Battle Shelby Team

The Mansfield Hawks will attempt to clinch at least a tie for the first half championship of the Richland County baseball league when they play host to the Shelby Merchants Sunday at Tillman's park.

The Hawks have lost only to T. and E. Tavern in four starts and a victory Sunday will assure them of no worse than a tie for the title. Lucas has finished its season with a 4-2 record while the Hawks have a postponed game remaining with Lexington.

Sunday's other game pairs Lexington and T. and E. Tavern at Liberty park.

2 Americans Back In Pact In Golf Meet

SANDWICH, ENG — (INS)— Frank Stranahan and Johnny Bulla, America's lone survivors trailed today in the British Open Golf championship, and Harry Bradshaw, Irish pro, took the third round lead with 213.

Stranahan, Toledo, O., amateur, was five strokes back with 71-73-74—218 and Bulla, Verona, Pa., pro, seven strokes to the bad with 71-73-76—220.

Roberto Di Vicenzo, Argentinian pro, shot a 73 for 216

Stranahan and Bulla shot identical rounds on the first two swings around the Royal St. George's links for 144's to be four strokes off the pace set by Britisher Sam King with 140 after yesterday's play.

Stranahan went out in even par 35 this morning, but took a 39, two over par, coming home as the field of 31 entered the homestretch of the concluding 36 holes scheduled today.

Sam Snead 'Hot' In Reading Open

READING, PA.—(UP)— Sammy Snead paced the field into the second round of the Reading open today on the strength of a record-busting 63.

Snead seared the 6,001-yard layout with a 30-33 round that cracked the old mark of 65 set by Byron Nelson 10 years ago.

Veteran Lawson Little missed an eight-foot putt on the 18th hole and wound up second with 64. George Low jr. had a 65.

Between his first and second errors of the season, second baseman Eddie Miller of the Phillies accepted 159 chances without a bobble.

With 57 passengers aboard - including former U. S. Sen. Mon C. Wallgren - the giant craft dumped 1,200 gallons of its heavy gasoline load into the Atlantic before swinging back.

More State Aid to Cities Gaining Support

Youngstown Plan Faces Rules Group

Pay Raises Seen Vetoes By Lausche

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Prospects brightened today for more state aid to hard-pressed cities and other local governments. But pay raises for teachers and state employes remained in doubt as the legislature neared final adjournment.

The Senate voted Thursday to finish its work next Friday (July 15) and end the 98th General assembly July 29. House concurrence after the weekend adjournment will make the dates official.

Senators carded a vote Monday on a 5 percent increase in the state liquor monopoly's profit markup to get extra money for cities. Enactment will about finance a boost in local government grants from $12,000,000 annually to $18,000,000.

It's part of the "Youngstown Plan" proposed by Sens. Clingan Jackson and Nicholas P. Bernard, Youngstown Democrats. They also want $15,000,000 a year from taxes on financial institutions given to local government by the formula turned down in 1947.

Banking centers like Cleveland and Cincinnati now receive most of the revenue at the expense of other cities, the senators claim.

The "Youngstown plan" bills cleared the Senate but stuck in the House rules committee. Sponsors said approval of the liquor profit increase may shake them loose.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche has urged legislators to keep expenses within state income. He criticized them last week for acting on bills to extract more money from a "fatigued taxpaying public." The measures seek $27,500,000 for two - year teacher pay raises and $10,000,000 for state workers.

Sen. Albert L. Daniels (R-Highland) answered him in the Senate before weekend adjournment. Daniels is a champion of school aid. He said Lausche indicated he will veto salary increase bills reaching him.

Collapses At Murder Trial

ATHENS — (INS) — The first degree murder trial of 21 - year - old Harry Dodds jr., of New Straitsville continued in a hushed atmosphere today, caused by the collapse of his mother on the witness stand.

Mrs. Dodds began sobbing as she told of her son's term in the Mansfield reformatory yesterday and she soon had to be helped from the stand and led from the courtroom.

The youth is on trial for the slaying of Miss Eleanor Gifford, Athens Episcopal church worker, formerly of Cincinnati and Indianapolis, during an attempted burglary.

Timken Postpones New Wage Talks

CANTON — (INS) — Timken Roller Bearing company officials and CIO-United Steelworkers of America representatives will not resume contract talks until Tuesday in Canton.

The postponement will give company officials an opportunity to prepare added data on their selective wage adjustment plan which they offered the union June 30. The company proposed to increase insurance benefits and adjust wages of about 3,000 workers.

Near Agreement On Farm Subsidy Plan

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Agriculture committee senators appeared to be nearing agreement today on a try-out subsidy program for a group of farm commodities ranging from hogs to milk.

The plan was tentatively proposed during testimony by Agriculture Secretary Brannan before a subcommittee headed by Sen. Anderson (D) N. M. It would vary in mechanical details from Brannan's own program but would achieve the same ends.

out mud and trash that washed into the subway.

The fire department's pumper drew the water from the subway and emptied it into the storm sewer at Third street, one block away.

That sewer is directly connected with Ritter's run. Davis has asked city council to run a storm sewer from the subway to this point.

The argument has been it would be impossible to pump the water up the grade from the subway to Third street, Davis said.

SEES WAY CLEAR

"But if that small pump on the fire truck can pump water up that grade, think what a nine-million gallon sump pump could do," he said.

The plan backed by Davis would be to install a sump pump below the surface of the subway, and a 20-inch storm sewer to Third street and directly into Ritter's run.

He said the job, which includes widening the subway's traffic lanes, could be completed for about $6,000.

The sidewalks along the subway would be relocated behind the abutment where they should be for safety, Davis said.

It would be necessary to tunnel through the bank to put in the sidewalks, he said.

With the sump pump and the storm sewer leading to Ritter's run, the subway could be kept clear of water at all times, he said.

Ascot Park Horse Puts Bite On Fan

AKRON — (AP) — A Maryland man complained today a horse at Ascot Park racetrack put the bite on him—literally.

Herbert Fazenbacker, 53, of Frostburg, Md., told police he was passing a stable at the track, minding his own business, when the horse assaulted him.

He was taken to St. Thomas hospital, treated for bites on his head and ears and released. He said he didn't get the horse's license number.

Red Cross Calls For 280 Donors

Bloodmobile To Be Here Next Week

The Red Cross is seeking 280 persons to donate bood Monday and Tuesday when the bloodmobile will visit Mansfield, Mrs. Stuart M. Weaver, chairman of the Blood Service committee, said today.

Mrs. Weaver pointed out that the blood obtained will be returned for use in Richland County after being typed and examined in Columbus.

"Mansfield has been falling far short of its quota of 200 pints of blood each visit," Mrs. Weaver added.

"The Red Cross obtained only 114 pints in Richland County during June and 143 points of blood were used in the county. This means that other counties have been supplying Richland County with the additional blood needed to supply county hospitals," Mrs. Weaver said.

The bloodmobile will be stationed at the Park Avenue Baptist church on park avenue west, across from the Red Cross chapter house. Donors can give blood from noon Monday until 6 p. m. and from 10 a. m. until 4 p. m. Tuesday.

Recruitment chairmen appointed to enlist volunteers from Richland county church congregations include: Willlam Fendrick, First Christian church; Robert J. Stevenson, St. Mark's Lutheran church; James Mahon, Franklin Methodist church; Andrew Meng jr., Apostolic Christian church; Mrs. O. H. McCuen, Main street Evangelical church; and Walter Swigart, Pleasant Valley Lutheran Church.

Launches Drive Against Gaming

NILES — (INS) — Police Chief Harold Walls has "lowered the boom" on gambling in the "model industrial village of nearby McDonald. Walls late Thursday issued orders that all punchboards, numbers games and baseball pools are to stop, and detailed a staff of five patrolmen to double check on all local gambling places.

"This is not a drive or one-shot campaign," the McDonald chief said, "merely a general sustained cleanup."

U. S. Navy Sells 'Odds and Ends'

WASHINGTON — (AP) — When the navy wants to get rid of a few odds and ends which are cluttering up the place, what does it do?

Why, it advertises in the newspapers, just like anyone else.

Which is how it happens that the readers of the Washington Post Thursday were offered the following "incomplete" items by the Brooklyn, N. Y., navy yard:

1 aircraft carrier hulk; 1 converted destroyer; 2 coastal transports; 1 car float; 3 landing craft infantry; and 1 landing craft tank.

Phone Rates Need Expert Study

WITH ONE VOICE city council has voted its unqualified opposition to the Mansfield Telephone company's proposal to increase its rates to subscribers. Council thus expresses the general feeling of the public that the poor brand of service being offered by the telephone company does not merit a higher charge.

Indeed, there is widespread sentiment, which council has undoubtedly encountered, that an interest in profits seems to have motivated the company to a point where much greater stress was laid on dividends to stockholders than on retaining a substantial share of the earnings for improvement of service to the public.

Since the Mansfield Telephone company is a public utility, operating under a franchise, the public is entitled to full knowledge of how the firm has earned and spent its money, how its rates and types of service compare with those in cities of similar size.

Council has prepared the way for obtaining this information by requesting City Solicitor C. J. Kalbfleisch to advise the utilities committee on what legal and technical assistance is necessary to formally protest the rate-increase request filed with the Public Utilities commission.

Certainly the employment of an expert to analyze what the city's telephone subscribers are getting and what they are paying for is in order. Money to hire a competent expert in the highly technical telephone field will be wisely spent if it can save phone users from having thousands of dollars added to the total monthly bill.

You can be sure the Mansfield Telephone company will have an expert to present its side of the case! It already has one in the person of Gustav Hirsch, a director and stockholder of the company, who as recently as June 24 acted as consulting engineer in the case of the Ohio Consolidated Telephone company's request for higher rates, in southern and central Ohio, before the PUCO.

Mr. Hirsch not only owns considerable stock in the Mansfield Telephone comuany, but his organization in Columbus does virtually all of the engineering and general service work for the company. Since he is a resident of Columbus, where PUCO headquarters are located, and since he has provided expert testimony before the commission it can be assumed he is reasonably well-known to the commissioners.

The city, therefore, will do well—as seems to be council's intent—to provide itself with highly qualified assistance in fighting the rate boost which council members, speaking the general public sentiment, unanimously protest.

Working On Map of the Universe

A MAP of the universe, showing half a billion stars, will be on sale four years from now, according to announcement from the California Institute of Technology. If rocket planes go into operation, carrying passengers to the moon and the other planets, a map like this will be considered necessary.

There is one slight difficulty, however. The atlas of the universe will not be in a few handy sheets, but will comprise 20 oversize volumes, and the price is expected to be $2,000.

So when you order your rocket plane, be sure that it contains a compartment for storing this sky map, so that if you get off your route you can tell whether you are heading for Mars or Jupiter.

What Some Other People Are Saying

GENERALISSIMO CHIANG KAI-SHEK: "It is my conviction that all struggles for human freedom and national independence must succeed. I do not believe that efforts—whether our own efforts, or the efforts of our friendly countries—to save the situation in China will be too late."

DR. ALBERT SCHWEITZER, scholar and medical missionary: "The great conflict of our time is the struggle between a collective society representing the spirit of Hegal, and the individualism of man representing the spirit of Goethe."

U. S. War of Trade With Red Bloc

THE QUESTION of how far the democracies should go in establishing trade with the Russian bloc is a subject of anxious discussion on both sides of the Atlantic.

It becomes doubly important when considered in connection with such statements as that by Miklos Nyaradi, former Hungarian finance minister, who states that Russia and her satellites have a military time-table which calls for readiness for war by 1951.

"Whether or not they actually start one then," he says, "will depend, I think, as much on the effectiveness of the Atlantic pact and the Marshall plan as on such imponderables as the possibility of Stalin's early death and the continued American monopoly of the atomic bomb."

Simultaneously from the other side of the world comes word that the Chinese communist chief, Mao Tze-Tung, has told his followers that there is no "third road" between communism and capitalism, but then nevertheless they must for the present cooperate with capitalism so that China can achieve maximum production.

Should the democracies trade with red China, thereby building up its war potential? Should they proceed similarly in Europe, where the communist bloc is calling mainly for materials which could be used in war?

In considering that question one is reminded most uncomfortably that some American business fed scrap iron and oil to Japan almost to the moment of her attack on Pearl Harbor, thereby vastly increasing the Jap striking-power. Germany likewise battend on trade with her prospective victims as she prepared for the first world war.

Fortunately the Western Allies are agreed that they shall not supply the communist bloc with outright war materials. There is, however, considerable argument as to what constitutes war material. Potentially almost anything might come under that classification.

* * *

American Viewpoint

BRITAIN, struggling in the midst of a fierce economic crisis and wanting trade, has seemed much less inclined to restrict the list than is the United States. All the western nations are agreed, of course, it is essential that trade among the Western European nations be stimulated in order to hasten rehabilitation. That will be a deterrent to the spread of communism.

All are agreed, too, that certain trade with Eastern Europe is desirable. It may be highly desirable, for example, with Yugoslavia which has been blacklisted by Moscow for failure to toe the line.

However, there is a widespread view in American circles that, broadly speaking, things should be made as difficult for the Reds economically as possible. In short, there are many who feel that the Western nations will in effect be aiding the soviet bloc by engaging in any trade.

Compromise in the Allied viewpoints is rendered more difficult by the fact that the Russian bloc is fairly self-sufficient in many of the non-military materials which the democracies have to offer. What the Eastern bloc wants, and is asking for, is items which fall in the class of war materials.

The American attitude was well exemplified the other day when the Polish ambassador to Washington was refused a huge order of ball bearings which he said were for use in coal mining machinery in his country. His claim that the bearings were to be used in mining didn't alter the fact that they also are highly important for war purposes.

It is likely that the general viewpoint represented by this American ruling will prevail in the allied councils.

Senate Misses Gallery

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON — How necessary to our modern politicians are stagesetting, atmosphere, and, above all, a gallery, is being demonstrated by the restrained and hemmed-in feeling reflected now by members of Congress as they do their business in temporary, smaller quarters—and without benefit of a gallery for the public.

Repairs to the roofs of House and Senate chambers compelled both bodies to move elsewhere. The House holds its sessions in the ways and means committee room, which is comfortable and fairly large. The Senate is meeting in a much smaller room in the center of the capitol. The latter was occupied most recently by the Supreme Court but has been vacant since the court moved several years ago to its handsome new building across the plaza from the capitol.

The Senate exhibits most sensitivity to its temporary quarters. For senators, after all, do take themselves and their poses quite seriously. Beyond that, the Senate moved into its temporary quarters—with no public gallery attached—just as it began what is usually known hereabouts as "a historic debate," this one on ratification of the Atlantic pact.

For such an occasion, of course, atmosphere is essential—and room for a senator to move about freely, wave his arms, thump his desk, and strut before a gallery as he participates in making history.

Henry Clay and Daniel Webster made a lot of history in this little chamber, for Senate met there until 1858, and long before their day, it was the scene of the reading of the Monroe Doctrine, which is cited by some as a precedent for the Atlantic pact. But times have changed. Modern politics demands its trumped-up drama, its highpowered promotion, and for that a proper setting and sounding - board are required. That is fure, too, in other segments of our national life.

* * *

In A Cubbyhole.

Chatting with a group of reporters just before he entered the temporary Senate chamber, where he was scheduled for a major speech, Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.) expressed regret that the Senate was "going behind an iron curtain" to debate one of the most momentous issues in our history, which should have thorough discussion so our people would be fully informed of the step they are about to take. He added it was too bad this was being done "in a cubbyhole."

They only inference from his comment is that senators, because they are debating this issue without benefit of a public gallery, will therefore not discuss it fully and, as a matter of fact, that is what is expected to happen.

As far as the public goes, however, the great bulk of it can get just as much of the debate in this chamber as in regular senate chamber, for newspaper reporters are present at all times and are covering the proceedings exhaustively.

The public galleries of the regular Senate chamber can seat only 680 persons, though standing room on big occasions increases this somewhat, so that very little of the "public" ever hears such debate anyhow, and certainly not much of it, except for such people as live in Washington all the time and can spare the time, of whom there are very few.

It comes down to the fact that senators like a gallery and rise to it and, without the inspiration, presumably are not inclined to perform.

It is ture, of course that they don't have all the conveniences in their temporary wuarters. They have no desks, as there is not room. Four desks are provided up front, two each on Democratic and Republican sides, for senators desiring to speak from manuscripts. They have comfortable leather chairs in which to sit. The chamber is air-cooled, as is that used by the House.

The comment heard most often about the capitol is that the restricted quarters for daily sessions probably will hasten adjournment of Congress, which sounds like an excuse to get away without finishing the business still pending.

It should, of course, operate to expedite business. It should make it easier for both branches of Congress to do more, since attention can be concentrated on getting things done.

But politicians are pecular folks. A gallery is part of their equipment.

How Federal Housing Plan Works

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — More than 25,000,000 low-income people live in slums or run-down city or farm homes. They can't afford better.

Now the government will help some of them through a public housing program.

Although it isn't big enough to help all of them, many millions of people will benefit since it will spread over a period of years.

It has three aims:

1. To get rid of slums. No one expects all the slums to be wiped out by this program. But it should make a dent in them.

2. Build houses—the so-called public housing—where low-income families, who have to pay low rent, can get decent dwellings.

3. Help poor farmers put needed repairs on their homes or even build new ones.

That, in brief, is the progam. The big help from the government will be in money. The cost to the government:

1. Between $7 billion and $12 billion spread over 40 years in grants. These will be outright gifts of money.

2. Another $3 billion or so in loans. Since these will be paid back, the government won't be out this money.

Except in the case of hard-up farmers, none of the money goes directly to individuals, poor or otherwise.

It goes to cities and communities. They'll have to hire private contractors to clear the slums and build the public housing for them.

When they can't foot the bill themselves, they'll get money help from the government.

They'll handle the slum clearance and run the public housing when it's built. The government's chief role is to see that the plans make sense before it dishes out any money.

The public housing goal is 810,000 family units in the next six years. A unit can be a place with one bedroom, or two or three bedrooms, plus the other usual rooms.

Since there are millions of people in the slums, the 810,000 units can't take care of all of them in six years.

But over 40 years that much housing can handle millions of people. For example.

A low-income family is allowed to move in. In time, its income goes up. Then it must move out of the low-rent public housing to make room for another low-income family.

But the government won't let any city use federal money to wipe out a slum unless there's a low-rent place for the slum-dwellers to go.

For that reason, the public housing part of the program probably will be the first to start. Slum-clearance can follow.

This program clearly means the government acknowledges it has a responsibility to see that American people are decently housed.

The average rent probably will be around $23, plus $7 for utilities.

Cabinet Split On Devaluing Pound

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Before Secretary of the Treasury Snyder left for Europe he had a highly important and secret talk with President Truman in which he outlined his plans for getting the British to devalue the pound.

This is the real purpose of Snyder's sudden trip—despite all the publicity camouflage about consultation with U. S. financial experts. Reason for the camouflage is that the treasury doesn't want the British public to know that we are trying to run their currency from this side of the Atlantic.

Sir Stafford Cripps, head of British economy, had informed Washington even before Snyder left that if the United States insisted on devaluing the pound he would resign. This would probably mean a general election in England.

Three members of the Truman cabinet also disagree with Snyder—secretary of state Acheson, secretary of agriculture Brannan and secretary of labor Tobin.

Brannan and Tobin don't want to devalue the pound because the less value the pound has the less it will buy of American cotton, tobacco, pork, etc. Sir Stafford Cripps has somewhat the same thing in mind—though from a different angle. If the pound is depreciated, the British consumer will not be able to import as much food for his money — though Cripps wants the food to be imported from the British dominions and Argentina, not from the U. S. A.

Backing up Snyder against the three cabinet members is Paul Hoffman, head of ECA, who fears the collapse of his Marshall plan unless the pound is devalued. In fact, Marshall plan ambassador Averell Harriman has been pressuring the British so vigorously, even before Snyder arrived, that lanky Sir Oliver Franks, the British ambassador in Washington, was rushed to London by air to help take the heat off.

Despite the strong differences within his own cabinet, and the above ramifications, Truman gave secretary Snyder a completely free hand in dealing with the financial crisis.

No "Senator Dewey"

Governor Dewey telephoned his old friend, Senator Irving Ives, from Albany the other day to get some advice on whom he should appoint to the temporary Senate vacancy left by retiring Robert Wagner.

"Why don't you come down to Washington yourself?" urged Ives.

"No," replied Dewey, "I don't want to."

Instead he appointed his personal friend, John Foster Dulles.

* * *

Lawyers Dewey and Dulles.

Several of John Foster Dulles' New York law associates were discussing the report that Gov. Dewey would nominate the elderly New York lawyer to the Senate.

"Remember last year," said one, "we thought that Dewey would be elected and we would be able to divide up Dulles' share of the firm's profits?"

"Yes," replied another, "the day after election we were afraid Dewey would join the firm, and we would have to cut up our share to divide with Dewey."

Capital News Capsules.

AFTERMATHS OF THE TAFT-HARTLEY BATTLE — Senator Virgil Chapman of Kentucky, who owes his election entirely to Alban Barkley, voted against Barkley and the administration right down the line. There was a lot of fuss over Senator O'Conor of Maryland, who was brought back to Washington for the Taft-Hartley vote. O'Conor lived up to his advance billing and voted with the administration. However, when the heat was off, he quietly switched over to Taft's side and voted earlier opposed. This was also true of Tydings of Maryland, for the injunction that he had. Frear of Delaware (Democrats) and Lodge of Massachusetts (Republican) ... One vote would have changed the entire Taft-Hartley picture, thus creating a tie and a chance for Vice President Barkley to break the tie. Three senators, according to Senator Lucas, were pledged to vote with labor, but switched at the last minute—Capehart of Indiana, Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, and Hendrickson of New Jersey ... Senator Lucas' skillful handling of the Taft-Hartley fight, even though he lost, will help his difficult re-election chances in Illinois ... The man who really defeated Lucas was Byrd of Virginia who had promised Senator Taft to deliver the votes of 14 Southern Democrats, and did.

STALIN'S SUCCESSOR—State department cables report a bitter feud raging within the Politburo over who shall succeed Stalin as the dictator of Russia. One Politburo group supports Molotov, another Georgi Malenkov, who is emerging as the new strong man in Russia. Malenkov has burst into prominence by succeeding Andrei Zhdanov, recently dead under mysterious circumstances.

HARD ON LOBBYISTS— The lobbyists are complaining the loudest about the remodeling on capitol hill. While the Senate chamber is closed down, there won't be room in the temporary chamber for visitors — or lobbyists. Incidentally, the temporary chamber will be so cramped that the capitol architect has secretly ordered a supply of lumber to remodel a larger room in the Senate office building—just in case the Senators won't put up with the inconvenience.

Timely Editorial

Belongs to Another Day.

After holding to illusions about the bayonet for more than three-quarters of a century, the United States Army is once again making an effort to eliminate that practically useless weapon.

Any buck private who served in the line during either World war would know how to advise the generals on that score: Heave it in the ashcan and forget it henceforth, for it has no application to the conditions of modern war!

That the bayonet survives is simply a symptom of the sluggishness of military thought.—Detroit News.

Inez Gets Emancipated

By INEZ ROBB

WILD OAT FARM, Flemington, N. J. — Ever since I can remember, people have been talking, talking, talking — a little drearily if you ask me—about the emancipation of women.

Often I wasn't certain what they were talking about, and I don't think they were either. But I know now.

I just done been emancipated and peace, it's wonderful!

Something new has been added to the kitchen. It is a very fancy, shiny big white enamel gadget known as an electric dish washer. And for the life of me, I can't understand why someone didn't tell me about 'em before.

The sassy thing just sets there, washing and drying the dishes slick as a whistle, and look, ma NO hands!

When a large truck accompanied by an unknown young man lumbered into our driveway yesterday there was no outward sign that it was, in reality, a white knight on Citation charging to the rescue of a damsel in distress.

But such, indeed, it was. And I think the mo'om pictures in the next remake of the remake of "I Remember Mama" could include a surefire tear - jerker scene where the deliverer arrives with an electric dish washer for Mother Machree, surrounded at the moment by unmade beds and dirty dishes left by 24 hay hands.

* * *

A Note of Note

"A present, Mrs. Robb," said the white knight, who turned out to be a Mr. Lee Wells of Union, N. J., as he pressed a note into my hot hand and as the Kohinoor of the kitchen was unloaded with ruffles and flourishes.

The note explained all, and it also explains in a lovely way the power of the press. After the usual formalities, it continued:

"I recently read with bleeding heart and tear - dimmed eyes your column on the general hardships and terrors of life in the country for the city slicker who is a week-end farmer.

"As a sincere fan if not your best friend, I was particularly touched by the poignant paragraph saying that the week-end hardships had resulted in dishpan hands right up to the second joint, whereas in town for five days a week you have nothing to do but loll over a hot typewriter in a push - button apartment.

"Naturally, I feel that if you had followed my admonition never to go into the first joint, you would not now be in the second one.

"But since that is where you say you are, I am off to the rescue and am sending you this small token of my esteem. Also I am sending you the bill. Pay for it out of the household kitty.

"I wouldn't mind paying for it myself. But I know you. If I pay for it, I will never hear the last of it. When the girls ask you what your husband gave you for your birthday or for Michaelmas or for Christmas, I can just see you patting their mink coats and saying bravely, with a face as sad as Little Nell, the match girl: 'Oh, he gimme an electric dish washer.' And I would never be able to hold up my head again at the Stork club.

"Okay. So here is an electric dish-washer. And don't let me read any more public pronouncements on your domestic agonies. Just do the dishes and keep still, and I'll do the weeding about which you were so piteous in print."

Signed "your loving husband."

Well, as I have always said—and I hope all you girls are listening— there is more than one way to get an electric dish washer.

Mr. Wells set to work hooking up the do-funnies on the machine, which also does the laundry, if and when it becomes a member of a thoroughly domesticated household.

He seemed right surprised when I asked him to take the laundry element or quick-change back to the store. He said certainly, but it was the first request of its kind he had ever had. Usually ladies want a washing machine first, and then a dish washer, Mr. Wells said.

Then I had to explain to him about mama, the wisdom of the ages, and how she had taught me when young that if you never learn to milk a cow, you never have to.

"You keep cows on this place, too?" Mr. Wells asked in quite some surprise.

"No, I don't." I said, "and what's more, I don't aim to."

This conservation sort of set me thinking about the emancipation of women. Mama emancipated herself from cows. And now I have been emancipated from dishes.

It seems to me that we girls have gone about as fer as we can go.

Watching the Storm

By CALVIN A. BYERS

THE DROUGHT is broken. Yesterday great thunderheads hung over the east, red and dark and brilliantly reflecting the sun. Through the afternoon, constant breezes blew, thunder rolled and lightning played in fine zigzag lines of bluish haze.

Small fog wisps floated in a wreathlike formation along the rising darkest cloud. No omen of hurricane to wreak destruction, but promise of a splendid summer shower. I sat against a bank to watch and enjoy its coming.

The hilltop trees groaned with the first blast of moving air, and leaves and dead twigs sailed high over the barn. The elms on this side of Honey Creek lurched and swayed as if tugged at by a gigantic cable. The old heron abandoned his fishing and flew to the crotch of a big oak for shelter where he waited and watched, like myself.

Smaller birds suddenly perched close to the high creek banks — sparrows excitedly chittering, but supremely unworried. A bevy of quail busied themselves in front of a drift of leaves and hid from the wrath of the approaching storm.

I loved the roar and confusion, the cool mist of rain against my face, and I listened to the water threshing through the treetops for quite a few moments before it seemed necessary to draw back into the hollow tree where I had decided to spend the time that seemed necessary to avoid over exposure.

This tree has a fairly smooth cavern half hidden by hawthorn shrubs. It will accommodate a small man or two boys without overcrowding. I sat there until the storm passed by. I may even have slept a little. It seemed so quiet and so secure and at the heart of things.

There was more rain in the night. After breakfast my wife and I walked down the gravel road to look at the Holstein cow that will soon have her first calf. The breeze was cool and sweet and things smelled so good! Jays screamed like autumn, but wheat shocks in a neighboring field told of harvest unfinished.

A bob-white whistled and I held up a finger in response. "What a paradise the world is this morning!" I said.

My wife grinned in a certain way she has. "If that's what this is," she said, "I'd better keep a lookout for two or three strong brown angels who can spare time to help me clean the house."

About Women

NEWLYWEDS TO RESIDE HERE AFTER NUPTIALS

Miss Frances Moore, Mt. Vernon, N. Y., Becomes Bride of Richard D. Carter, 80 Marion Avenue

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD D. CARTER have been residing at 80 Marion avenue, since their recent marriage, July 2, in the college chapel of the College of William and Mary. Mrs. Carter is the former Miss Frances Moore. The Rev. William Pinckney Anderson officiated for the single ring closed church ceremony held at 3 o'clock.

Beautiful arrangements of all white gladioli and snapdragons, intermingled among greenery, decorated the chapel. Two large seven branch candelabra with tall white burning tapers illuminated the scene.

Mrs. Carter is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joel P. Moore of Mt. Vernon, New York, and Mr. Carter, who has been residing at the Marion avenue address, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Carter, Charleston, West Virginia.

Miss Louise Inman presided at the organ for the half hour recital of nuptial music played preceding the service.

The bride, who was escorted to the altar by her father, chose a lovely summer wedding gown of white nylon tulle for her marriage. The yoke of illusion was edged with an accordion pleated bertha collar. A matching peplum topped the bouffant skirt which extended into a long wide train. An illusion helmet type cap edged with a row of orange blossoms held the three tiered fingertip veil in place.

An arrangement of stephonatis and lilies of the valley, centered with a white orchid was carried by the bride.

Mrs. Carter's only attendant was her younger sister, Miss Martha Jean Moore. She was attired in a pale green marquisette gown. A short fitted jacket topped the bodice which was attached to a bouffant skirt. She wore a matching halo effect bonnet. Miss Moore's flowers was an arrangement of light Talisman roses.

Mrs. Moore chose a rose silk dress with black accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Carter wore an aqua silk dress with white accessories. Both mothers had white orchid shoulder corsages.

Bruce Maples of Geneva, New York, a close friend of the bridegroom, served as best man.

Guests were escorted to their pews by George Bacon of Washington, D. C., and William Cowaid of Norfolk, Virginia. Both ushers are friends of the couple.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception for fifty guests was held in the Williamsburg Inn. A four tiered wedding cake, surrounded by baby's breath, centered the serving table. Bouquets of lilies of the valley and snapdragons were placed throughout the room.

The first of next week the young couple will leave for a trip through Canada.

Mrs. Carter graduated from New Town high school, Long Island, New York, and the College of William and Mary where she was affliated with Pi Beta Phi sorority. Before her marriage Mrs. Carter was assistant advertising and publicity director for Milgrim's in New York.

The bridegroom, a graduate of South Charleston high school, South Charleston, West Virginia, also received his degree from the College of William and Mary, where he was an active member of Kappa Sigma fraternity. He is employed in the sales promotion department of the Westinghouse Electric corporation.

Out-of-town guests present at the ceremony were in attendance from Birmingham, Ala.; Washington, D. C.; Seatonsville, Maryland; New York and Geneva, New York; Charleston and Wheeling, West Virginia; Cincinnati, Ohio; and Petersburg, Virginia.

"Horn of Plenty" Rings Are New

NEW YORK — Latest wrinkle in courting a girl with vows of "mink and diamonds" is to present her with a new palladium and gold wedding ring that actually carries the same message of its design.

Known as the "Horn of Plenty," this unique nuptial band portrays embossed figures of a cornucopia, the ancient Grecian emblem of abundance. Artists have represented the horn ever since as overflowing with fruits to symbolize good fortune.

Prospective brides may take comfort from the new marital ring, however, for it promises more than a bountiful harvest. Instead of fruit, there are tiny diamonds, rubies and sapphires set in precious white palladium spilling from the three gold horns circling the ring. For those with decided preferences in gems, designer O. M. Resen points out that the total of nine stones may be had in any combination desired. Diamonds may be used exclusively, or three of each stone for a multi - color effect.

The band, measuring slightly less than one - half inch in width, stresses skillful openwork technique. Leaf patterns of hammered gold separating the "Horns of Plenty" are delicately pierced

Looking Through . . .

The Fashion Spy Glass

The neatest idea in play togs, to cross our path, has been a four piece ensemble in bright colored Indian head fabric, trimmed in white ric rac.

Each piece is priced separately and each can be combined beautifully with other play clothes. The shorts are priced at $2.98 and the loafer coat with long raglan sleeves and long torso sells for $5.98. Pedal pushers with side pockets and wide cuffs for $3.98 and a blouse with a mandarin collar at $3.98, completes the ensemble.

The colors are chartreuse, grey, kelly green, red and royal blue, each trimmed with white ric rac. A good idea is to buy the blouse and pedal pushers or shorts in contrasting colors. For instance, a kelly green and grey combination would be a smart addition to your wardrobe. The loafer coat, which is long enough to use as a beach coat too, will go with almost any shorts, slacks or bathing suit you own.

Of course you know that Indian head launders with the greatest of ease and is not as apt to get as wrinkled as softer fabrics. The colors are all fast and will not lose their lustre with frequent tubbings.

We think the idea of making bathing suits double for play suits is a good one. If you own one of these two purpose suits, you don't have to pack an extra suit when you go for an outing. We saw some beauties in pastel shades of sharkskin. The shorts are lined with soft white silk jersey, as is the halter, for swimming. The suits double remarkably well because sharkskin reacts nicely to both sun and water. This outfit sells for $7.95. It is fitted with a zippered back to help your figure.

On the same idea, but in one piece, there are some waffle pique and gingham play - swim suits. These are lined in the aforementioned jersey and are also zippered up the back. They are $8.95 a piece, and very smartly designed.

If you really want to stretch your play clothes wardrobe we recommend some reversible shorts. One side is plain denim and the other is corded. The suits (halter and shorts) come in blue, brown or green. An unusual touch to the costume is a criss-cross stitching all the way up one side.

For information on where to buy any of the items mentioned in this column, call Joan Schweitz at the News-Journal.

Unclutter Your House

To keep cool, calm, and composed this summer, apply the theory of "unclutter" to the house you live in, says an issue of CHARM, the magazine for the business girl.

First, begin with your own room, and put away, or throw away that collection of vallentines which has been on your mantel since last February. Relieve your dressing table of its scarf, and ice it, instead, with a coldly gleaming sheet of glass. Scrub your windows and then dress them with white or with cool gray curtains. Hang only pictures which have a cooling effect: a snowy landscape, a shaded lake, or even a pale green cucumber.

Only when you have laid bare the essential bone-clean composition of your room, should you start to decorate it with ornaments. Perhaps, you'll use a vase or two of inexpensive, hobnail glass. Choose daises, then, or black-eyed Susans, for one of your vases. From the other, trail ivy, or philodendron.

For your overstuffed furniture, consider washable cotton slip covers with the green-and-white motifs of summer. If you like to browse in second - hand-shops, you might find a pair of old iron terrace chairs, paint them white, and cushion them with green fabric.

Breakfast Party Held By Pavilion

A breakfast was held by members of the Woman's Missionary society of the First Christian church recently at North Lake park pavilion.

Mrs. Oliver Shively, president, was in charge of the short business session. It was announced that the club had raised their pledge to the church. Mrs. Shively read a poem on "Giving" for the Stewardship program. Devotions were led by Mrs. B. F. Hagelbarger.

Mrs. Sylvia Warne sang a vocal solo, "God Speaks to Me". She was accompanied at their piano by her mother, Mrs. Carl Warne. A book review on "Tumbleweed Boy" was given by Mrs. Edwin J. Horn.

The next session will be a meeting in the church on August 2.

Members of the DAV Auxiliary will hold installation of officers Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Frank Stetzer, 358 West Fifth street. State senior vice commander Leona Brown of Sandusky will be the installing officer.

Circle Five Holds Dinner

Twenty members of Circle Five of the First Presbyterian church met Thursday afternoon at 12:30 o'clock in the church parlors for a covered dish dinner. Summer garden flowers centered the table. The Rev. David N. Roller gave the invocation.

Beginning her duties as the new chairman, Mrs. Robert Black conducted the business session. Mrs. W. J. Robbins led the group in devotions. A farewell gift was presented to Mrs. Colombo Bosca, retiring chairman, who is moving to Marion.

The new vice chairman, Mrs. G. W. Weller, was in charge of the program. It was decided that there would not be a meeting in August.

The tiff the Bob Toppings had at El Morocco the other night before they left for California didn't hit the news pages — but Lana sho' nuff raised her voice to him as he cooled off with a batch of stingers. . .A Hollywood scripter has almost completed a script— already! — based on the love-and-loot escapades of the 73-year-old head-line-making geezer, Sigmund Engel. Reports have it that one studio is interested in doing the plot with Frank Morgan in the lead and a comedy twist. . .

Are the Hugh Herberts toying with a reconciliation?. . .An Italian film representative has arrived in the U. Advance reports have it that an expose titled "Prince of Privilege" will shock a flock of high ranking politicians when it hits the bookstalls. The proofs are being read behind locked doors . . That hand-holding couple at El Borracho the other evening was composed of Mr. and Mrs. Fred O. Hammer, just back from a "second honeymoon" in Canada. Horoscope

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE
For Saturday, July 9

Although there are sinister and devastating situations to tax, perplex and complicate current affairs, yet a sturdy, honest and straightforward course of action could turn the tide into constructive and hopeful channels, if carried out with determination, serious reflection with prudent and conservative actions. Flying into tantrums, resort to queer or erratic tactics could upset any constructive work. Postpone change and adhere to calm and measured plans, until the coast be clear for drastic action.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may feel like taking summary action to relieve a devastating and harrowing state of affairs, being urged on by erratic and irregular tearing - up from old settled conditions in favor of audacious, rash and unconventional behavior. With conservative and studied attention to underlying forces and factors, some stable and worthwhile benefits could develop, even on tottering foundations. Persistent, calm and restrained operations could avert disaster and put shaky affairs on firm foundations. Aim at long-range security rather than "flash - in - the - pan" techinques.

A child born on this day while erratic, impulsive and unconventional yet has certain depths of character and application that might assist it over dangerous or critical situations.

Good-Looks Schedule For Summer Wilters

In hot weather there are two kinds of people: those who bloom and those who wilt.

The bloomers are the fresh flowers whose hair keeps its curl, whose noses never seem to shine. But, if you are a wilter, don't dispair. There are a few tested recipes says a leading beauty expert, for at least looking as if you enjoyed the hot weather.

First on the look-cool, be-cool agenda, says Hazel Rawson Cade of the Woman's Home Companion, is your hair. The shorter your hair, the easier it is to keep it clean. In hot weather you will need a shampoo more often: prespiration seems to attract dust. Between shampoos try freshening hair and scalp by mopping them off with a cleansing preparation.

"In summertime," added Miss Cades, "a refreshing idea for makeup is to moisten your cake makeup with skin freshener. And be sure that your base and powder shade keep step with changing skin tones. For tanned skin clear red, golden red or coral shades are good lipstick and polish colors."

Another summer must is to smell sweet, and don't forget, says the expert, that a necessary background for smelling sweet is not smelling the other way—you spell this "deodorant."

"Incidentally all these hints will work better," reminds Miss Cades, "in a good mental climate. You know—don't watch the the thermometer; don't talk about the humidity; walk, do not run to all destinations, including good looks."

Give Dishes Magic Touch

You can tell when a woman really likes to cook — every dish she turns out has a magic touch of individuality, a pleased-as-punch manner that says she enjoyed making it. And, better still, you'll enjoy eating it! The good cook's tricks include the taste and texture of nuts, subtle flavoring of cheese, and herbs or spices used with a knowing hand. To show you what we mean here are a couple of suggestions from the Woman's Home Companion that will put you in the gourmet class. Cooked tomatoes, both broiled and stewed, take kindly to a springling of brown sugar and a little finely chopped dill pickle. Add these two items with the other seasonings — salt, pepper and butter.

A good cook never throws broccoli stems away. Try peeling them, cook and chill and serve as a salad adding some chopped pickle to the dressing. Don't forget that vegetables served with fish take the tart touch. One of the easiest ways to season cooked cabbage, beans, spinach and other greens which accompany seafood is to add a snappy French dressing to them. Here is something you might call Golden Elegance. To three cups of cooked, drained carrots, sliced lengthwise, add 2 tablespoons each of honey and margarine, salt to taste and 1 teaspoon prepared horse - radish. Heat gently in saucepan five minutes. Your family will clamour for more.

REGULAR MEETING

The Blue Star Mothers held their regular business session this week at the YMCA clubrooms. A committee was appointed to plan for the anniversary picnic to be held in August. Mrs. Harry Constance reported on attending the commencement exercises at Brecksville Veterans Hospital. The next regular meeting will be held Aug. 2.
